

54 Must v. have (got) to, would, can't per esprimere obbligo, divieto e necessità

Must

must + forma base del verbo

You mustn't shout.

Non devi urlare.

Forma affermativa
I/he/she/it/you/we/they	must	stop
Forma negativa
I/he/she/it/you/we/they	mustn't (must not)	stop
Forma interrogativa
Must	I/he/she/it/you/we/they	stop?
Risposte brevi
Forma affermativa	Forma negativa
Yes, I/he/she/it/you/we/they must.	No, I/he/she/it/you/we/they mustn't.

Uso

Must si usa:

- per dare un ordine o un divieto

You must keep your room tidy!

Dovete tenere la vostra stanza in ordine!

- per esprimere forte necessità o obbligo

I must leave now. I don't want to be late.

Must I do the washing-up?

Devo andare via adesso. Non voglio fare tardi.

Devo fare i piatti?

- per raccomandare qualcosa che ci sta a cuore.

You absolutely must see this movie.

Devi assolutamente vedere questo film.

- Must* si usa solo al presente. Per formare tutti gli altri tempi verbali si usa have to.

Have (got) to

Forma affermativa		Forma negativa
I/you/we/they	have (got) to	I/you/we/they	don't (do not)	have to	go
he/she/it	has (got) to

Forma interrogativa
Do	I/you/we/they	have to	go?
Does	he/she/it

Risposte brevi
Forma affermativa	Forma negativa
Yes, I/you/we/they do.	No, I/you/we/they don't.
Yes, he/she/it does.	No, he/she/it doesn't.

Uso

- Have to* può spesso essere usato come sinonimo di must nel presente.
We must/have to finish our homework by 7.00.
Dobbiamo finire i compiti per le 7.00.

- Tuttavia si preferisce have to quando l'obbligo proviene da un'autorità esterna, ad esempio quando si tratta di regole stabilite da altri.
I must stop smoking.

Devo smettere di fumare. (sono io a volerlo.)

My daughter has to wear a uniform at school.

Mia figlia deve indossare la divisa a scuola. (regolamento scolastico)

- In situazioni specifiche si può usare have got to.

I'm sorry, it's late, I've got to go.

Scusa, è tardi, devo andare.

Mustn't e don't have to

- Nella forma negativa, questi verbi hanno significati diversi.
Mustn't esprime divieto, don't have to mancanza di obbligo o di necessità.
You mustn't cross the road when the red light is showing.
Non devi (= è vietato) attraversare la strada con il semaforo rosso.
You don't have to turn on the central heating. It's automatic.
Non c'è bisogno di accendere il riscaldamento centralizzato. È automatico.

In questo caso have to equivale a don't need to.

You don't need to turn on the central heating. It's automatic.

- Il divieto o la mancanza di permesso nel presente può essere espresso anche con can't.
No, you can't use my car tonight.

No, non puoi usare la mia macchina stasera.

Altri tempi con have to

- La forma have to viene usata per i tempi mancanti di must.
We had to postpone the meeting. (past simple)
Abbiamo dovuto posticipare la riunione.
Did you have to wake up early? (forma interrogativa)
Avete dovuto alzarvi presto?
I'll have to fill in all the forms again. (futuro con will)
Dovrò ricompilare di nuovo tutti i moduli.
I've had to translate this letter twice. (present perfect)
Ho dovuto tradurre questa lettera due volte.
I might have to go to Germany next week. (con il modale might)
Forse la prossima settimana dovrò/devo andare in Germania.

Be allowed to

◆ Si può anche usare be allowed to per esprimere permesso e not be allowed to per esprimere mancanza di permesso.

I'm allowed to use my mother's car at the weekend.

Mi è permesso di usare la macchina di mia madre nel fine settimana.

We're not allowed to take photos here.

Non ci è permesso di fare fotografie qui.

MOZART PUNISHMENT

A school in England is using classical music to cut down on students' bad behaviour.

The head teacher started running two-hour detention sessions after school on Fridays last week.

His students (1) had to listen to Mozart and other classical music. They also (2) _____ his favourite poems and to watch educational videos.

"Well-behaved students want to study, but they (3) _____ that because of noisy students. We (4) _____ them spoiling lessons.

From now on, no student (5) _____ any school activity," said the head teacher. He believes the detention will also teach students that they (6) _____ education. "They (7) _____ their ears and their minds to an experience they don't normally have.

And I'm sure they don't want to have it again, so it's both educational and acts as a deterrent."

Music has had success elsewhere in reducing bad behaviour. In 2004, it reduced crime on London's subway by 25 per cent. Researchers from a Belfast university (8) _____ elephants misbehaving. However, one student of the school said: "I (9) _____ six detention sessions, but I don't think I (10) _____. An hour of the head teacher's music is a real killer."

55 Should, shouldn't, ought to, had better per dare consigli

Should e ought to ► Come tutti gli ausiliari e i modali, should e ought to hanno la stessa forma per tutte le persone.

should/ought to + forma base del verbo

- Nella forma interrogativa si preferisce usare should anziché ought to.
- La risposta breve con ought to, si usa solo alla forma affermativa.
Yes, you ought to. / No, you shouldn't.

Forma affermativa
I/he/she/it/you/we/they	should/ought to	listen
Forma negativa
I/he/she/it/you/we/they	shouldn't (should not) / oughtn't to (ought not to)	listen
Forma interrogativa
Should	I/he/she/it/you/we/they	listen?
Ought		to listen?
Risposte brevi		Forma negativa
Forma affermativa		Forma negativa
Yes, I/he/she/it/you/we/they should/ought to.		No, I/he/she/it/you/we/they shouldn't/oughtn't to.

Uso

Should e should not (= shouldn't) si usano per:

- dare o chiedere un consiglio
You should talk to your parents about it.
Should I phone Mrs Dean first?
Dovresti parlarne con i tuoi genitori. Devo telefonare prima a Mrs Dean?
- esprimere un'opinione.
The police should arrest hooligans.
La polizia dovrebbe arrestare i teppisti.
- Al posto di should e shouldn't si possono usare ought to e ought not to/oughtn't to.
Quest'ultimo è più formale e si utilizza per ricordare a qualcuno il proprio dovere.
You ought not/oughtn't to leave your room in a mess. Non dovresti lasciare la tua stanza nel caos.
- Spesso should e ought to sono preceduti da think.
I think the government should/ought to invest more in solar energy.
Penso che il governo dovrebbe investire di più nell'energia solare.
- Nelle frasi di senso negativo si può usare I don't think + should/ought to.
I don't think you should/ought to go.
Penso che non dovresti andare.

Had better

► Had better (= sarebbe meglio) + forma base del verbo ha la stessa forma per tutte le persone.

Spesso si usa nella forma contratta 'd better alla forma affermativa e 'd better not alla forma negativa.

You'd better leave now.

They'd better not swim in the river.

The water is too cold.

Sarebbe meglio se andassi ora.

Sarebbe meglio che non nuotassero nel fiume.

L'acqua è troppo fredda.

Uso

Had better o had better not è più informale di should e ought to.

Si usa come avvertimento riguardo a casi particolari e non a situazioni generali.

You had better/d better clean the lounge before the owners come back.

Sarebbe meglio che pulissi il salotto prima che tornino i padroni di casa.

We'd better not waste any more time.

Sarebbe meglio che non perdessimo più tempo.

Quick Tip

Nonostante la forma verbale al passato, had better si riferisce al presente o al futuro.

You'd better slow down.

We'd better catch the train tomorrow.

Faresti meglio a rallentare.

Sarebbe meglio se prendessimo il treno domani.

Had better non si usa mai al presente.

NON ~~I have better work harder.~~

57 May/Might, could e should per supposizioni

◆ Si usano may/might, could e should con la forma base del verbo. La forma rimane uguale per tutte le persone. ►► 168

'Anna isn't answering the phone.' 'Anna non risponde al telefono.'
'She may/might/could be in the shower.' 'Potrebbe essere sotto la doccia.'
It's 6.30. He should be here in a few minutes. Sono le 6.30. Dovrebbe essere qui a minuti.

◆ Nelle frasi negative si usano solo may not, might not (= mightn't) o shouldn't. Non si può usare couldn't che ha un significato diverso.

Nota che non esiste la forma contratta di may not.
We're a bit late. Siamo un po' in ritardo.
We may not/might not find any seats. Potremmo non trovare posto.
NON We couldn't find...

◆ Nelle frasi interrogative non si può usare may.

Could/Might Anna be in the shower? Anna potrebbe essere sotto la doccia?
NON May Anna be in the shower?

Uso

May / Might

Si usano may e might per fare supposizioni, per descrivere ciò che è probabile. Might indica un minore grado di probabilità.

It may rain later. È probabile che piova più tardi.
Alice might come to the party. Alice potrebbe venire alla festa.
(non è molto probabile)

Could

Quando si è molto incerti sulla possibilità che si verifichi un evento, si usa could.

The weather could improve later, but I don't think so. Il tempo potrebbe migliorare più tardi, ma non penso.

Should

Quando si formula una supposizione basata su ciò che è logico o normale si usa should.

There should be some spoons in that drawer. Dovrebbero esserci dei cucchiari in quel cassetto.

Quick Tip

May, might, could e should + forma base del verbo esprimono supposizioni riferite al presente o al futuro.

Per esprimere supposizioni riferite al passato si usano may/might/could/should + infinito passato del verbo.

She may have told you the truth, but I doubt it.

Può averti detto la verità, ma ne dubito.

Maybe, perhaps, probably e possibly

Per fare supposizioni si possono usare anche maybe, perhaps, possibly o probably.

58 Deduzioni riferite al passato e ad azioni in corso

- I verbi modali must, can't, may/might, could, should + have + participio passato si usano per formulare deduzioni, supposizioni, critiche ecc. su ciò che è oppure non è già accaduto. Ciascun modale esprime una funzione diversa. Osserva:

Forma	Funzione	Esempio
must (have done)	certezza	I must have met her somewhere. Devo averla incontrata da qualche parte. (ne sono certo)
can't (have done)	impossibilità	He can't have fixed the DVD player. It isn't working. Non può aver riparato il lettore DVD. Non funziona. (è impossibile che lo abbia fatto)
may / might / could / should (have done)	supposizione più o meno probabile	She may/might/could/should have gone to the shops. Può/potrebbe/dovrebbe essere andata a fare acquisti.
might (have done)	possibilità che non si è avverata	I might have married him but he was too bad-tempered. Avrei potuto sposarlo ma aveva un caratteraccio.
should / could (have done)	critica, recriminazione (per un'azione compiuta o non compiuta)	You shouldn't have gone to bed late last night. Non saresti dovuto andare a letto tardi ieri sera. You could have given us a ring to say that you were working late. Avresti potuto telefonare per avvertirci che lavoravi fino a tardi.

- Analogamente, i modali possono essere seguiti da una forma di infinito progressivo: must / can't / may / might / could / should + be + forma -ing del verbo. Questa struttura è usata per esprimere deduzioni e supposizioni riferite al momento in cui si parla.

'Why is Tom putting on his coat?' 'He must be going out.'

'Perché Tom si sta mettendo il cappotto?' 'Evidentemente sta uscendo.'

They can't be sleeping. I hear loud music coming from their flat.

59 Need, needn't have, didn't need to ► Need può comportarsi come verbo regolare oppure (nell'inglese britannico) come ausiliare modale. Come verbo regolare, need può essere seguito:

- da un complemento oggetto

Jack needs help.

complemento oggetto

Jack ha bisogno d'aiuto.

- da to + forma base del verbo.

What do you need to buy?

to + forma base del verbo

Che cosa hai bisogno di comprare?

► Come ausiliare modale, need:

- si usa soprattutto nelle frasi interrogative e negative, che si formano senza do/does

Need I queue?

Devo fare la fila?

- non prende la -s alla terza persona.

Need she sign this document?

Deve firmare questo documento?

NON Needs she ...

- non regge il complemento oggetto. In questi casi, è generalmente seguito dalla forma base senza to.

She needn't bring an umbrella.

Non ha bisogno dell'ombrello.

Oppure She doesn't need an umbrella.

NON She needn't an umbrella.

- In molti casi, soprattutto nelle interrogative e nelle negative al present simple, entrambe le forme sono possibili senza cambiamenti di significato.

Need I pay now? = Do I need to pay now?

You needn't pay now. = You don't need to pay now.

Uso

- Need si usa spesso per esprimere una necessità sia specifica che generale.

I need to go to the dentist's. I've got toothache.

Ho bisogno di andare dal dentista. Ho mal di denti.

- Per parlare di necessità generali, si usa don't/doesn't need to.

We don't need to have a vaccination to travel to Greece.

Non c'è bisogno di vaccinarsi per andare in Grecia.

- Need come ausiliare modale si usa soprattutto nelle frasi negative o nelle richieste quando ci si aspetta o si spera di ricevere una risposta negativa.

Need we reserve our seats?

C'è bisogno di prenotare i posti?

(= Spero che non ci sia bisogno di prenotare i posti.)

Espressioni con need

- 'Who broke the window?'
'Need you ask? Jim.'
'Chi ha rotto la finestra?'
'C'è bisogno di chiederlo? Jim.'
- Your last maths tests were a bit of a disaster. Need I say more?
Gli ultimi compiti di matematica sono stati un po' un disastro.
Devo dire altro?
- My country house badly needs renovating.
La mia casa di campagna ha proprio bisogno di essere ristrutturata.
- He was the most popular student in the school and, needless to say, his friends were a bit envious.
Era il ragazzo più popolare della scuola e, va da sé, i suoi amici erano un po' invidiosi.

Il passato di need

- Nella forma affermativa si usa needed.

We needed your support.

Avevamo bisogno del vostro sostegno.

- Nella forma negativa si possono usare le due forme didn't need + forma base del verbo con to oppure needn't have + participio passato, ma con una differenza di significato.

I didn't need to arrive at seven.

Non c'era bisogno che arrivassi alle sette.
(E non l'ho fatto.)

I needn't have arrived at seven.

Non c'era bisogno che arrivassi alle sette.
(Ma non lo sapevo e sono arrivato a quell'ora.)

Need + -ing

- Questa forma ha un significato equivalente all'infinito passivo.

My hair needs washing.

I miei capelli hanno bisogno di essere lavati.

= My hair needs to be washed.

Need I? e Must I?

- Le forme interrogative Need I? e Must I? sono quasi sinonime. Need I? suggerisce che chi parla spera in una risposta negativa.

'Need I come?'

'Devo (proprio) venire?'

'No, you needn't. / Yes, you must.'

'Non è necessario. / Sì, devi venire.'

PET 4 Read the rules of how to play Monopoly and decide if the statements are true (✓) or false (X).

HOW TO PLAY MONOPOLY

- You must have all the pieces at hand: a game board, two dice, play money, 32 houses, 12 hotels, 11 tokens, 2 stacks of Chest cards (Chance and Community), and a Title Deed card for each property.
- You have to place the Chest cards face down on their spaces on the board.
- Each player may choose his/her favorite token. Put all of the players' tokens on Go.
- You must choose a player to be the Banker. This person takes care of the money, buildings and Title Deed cards. Players may not loan money; only the Bank can.
- Distribute the money. Each player should get bills for a total of $1,500.
- Roll the dice to see who goes first. The highest score wins. In turn, players roll the dice and move that number of spaces.
- You can buy a property from the Bank, when you land on it. If you decide not to, the Banker may sell it to the highest bidding player. You should try to buy properties of the same color. Once you own an entire group, you can put buildings on them.
- If you land on another player's property, you have to pay rent. You don't have to pay rent if the owner doesn't notice and the next player throws the dice.
- Take a card if you land on Chance or Community Chest. You must follow the instructions.
- Collect $200 from the Bank every time you pass or land on Go.
- Players may go to Jail. Jailed players may still buy, sell and collect rent. You can get out of Jail by several methods. You can use a Get Out of Jail Free card, pay a fine or roll doubles on the dice.
- In order to win the game, you will have to snap up all of the properties on the board, ruin the other players and acquire more money than anyone else.

- There are 55 buildings in the game.
- You can't place the Chest cards face up on their spaces.
- You must roll the dice to get a token.
- The banker ought to give each player a $ 1,500 bill.
- You should start the game from the Bank.

61 Il passivo (1): present simple e past simple

- Nella frase attiva il soggetto è la persona, l'animale o la cosa che compie l'azione. Nella forma passiva il complemento oggetto del verbo attivo diventa il soggetto della frase. Osserva questi due esempi:

Forma attiva They serve lunch from 12 a.m. to 3 p.m.
(Essi) servono il pranzo dalle 12 alle 3 di pomeriggio.

Forma passiva Lunch is served from 12 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Il pranzo è servito dalle 12 alle 3 di pomeriggio.

- Il verbo passivo si forma così:
ausiliare be al tempo richiesto + il participio passato del verbo che descrive l'azione.

Present simple passivo
	Singolare	Plurale
Forma affermativa	Breakfast is included.	The rooms are cleaned every day.
Forma negativa	Breakfast isn't included.	The rooms aren't cleaned every day.
Forma interrogativa	Is breakfast included?	Are the rooms cleaned every day?

Past simple passivo
	Singolare	Plurale
Forma affermativa	The hotel was built in 1960.	The swimming pools were added in 1980.
Forma negativa	The hotel wasn't built in 1960.	The swimming pools weren't added in 1980.
Forma interrogativa	Was the hotel built in 1960?	Were the swimming pools added in 1980?

- Si usa la preposizione by per indicare l'agente (chi fa o ha fatto l'azione) quando è necessario.
The rooms are cleaned by Mrs Smith. Le stanze sono pulite dalla Signora Smith.
The hotel was built by my grandfather. L'hotel fu costruito da mio nonno.
- Il complemento di mezzo è espresso con with.
The doors are opened with special keys. Le porte vengono aperte con chiavi speciali.
- Le preposizioni by e with vengono messe alla fine della domanda.
Who was the hotel built by? Da chi fu costruito l'hotel?
What are the doors opened with? Con cosa vengono aperte le porte?
- L'agente e il mezzo vengono omessi se non sono importanti o non si conoscono.
The hotel was built in 1960. (L'agente è sconosciuto e non importante.)

Paper was invented from the Chinese.
La preposizione italiana 'da' che introduce il complemento di agente o causa efficiente non deve mai essere tradotta con from. Si deve usare by.
Paper was invented by the Chinese.

Uso

- Si usa la forma passiva:
- quando l'oggetto dell'azione è più importante di chi la compie o quando quest'ultimo è sconosciuto (per es. nel linguaggio giornalistico, scientifico e accademico)
Salisbury Cathedral was hit by a bolt of lightning yesterday.
La cattedrale di Salisbury è stata colpita da un fulmine ieri.
If the power cord is not connected to the AC adapter firmly, there is a danger of fire.
Se il cavo di alimentazione non è collegato saldamente all'adattatore CA, potrebbe verificarsi un incendio.
 - per avvisi e divieti, istruzioni e regolamenti
Smoking is forbidden in the hotel. È vietato fumare nell'albergo.
 - per descrivere processi
Acid is added, then the liquid is filtered. L'acido viene aggiunto, poi il liquido viene filtrato.
 - per tradurre il 'si' passivante italiano.
Guests are requested to leave their keys at reception.
Si pregano gli ospiti di lasciare le chiavi alla reception.

A differenza dell'italiano, si usa il past simple passivo (e non il present simple passivo) per parlare della nascita.
"Where were you born?" "I was born in Malta."
"Dove sei nato?" "Sono nato a Malta."

63 Il passivo (3): altri tempi e uso dei modali al passato

► Il passivo si forma con l'ausiliare be + participio passato per tutti i tempi verbali:

Tempo verbale	Forma di be	+ participio passato
Present continuous	am/is/are being
Present perfect	has/have been
Past continuous	was/were being
Past perfect	had been
Going to	am/is/are going to be
Present conditional	would be
Infinitive	to be
-ing form	being

Present continuous

attivo They are checking the passports.
passivo The passports are being checked.

Present perfect

attivo Your cat has eaten my pet mouse!
passivo My pet mouse has been eaten by your cat!

Past continuous

attivo They were decorating the flat.
passivo The flat was being decorated.

Past perfect

attivo Had they paid the bill?
passivo Had the bill been paid?

► La frase passiva riferita al passato può essere costruita anche con un verbo modale (can, could, must, should, ought to, may, might, needn't) in questo modo:

verbo modale + have been + participio passato del verbo che descrive l'azione.

Forma attiva	Forma passiva
They must have left the dog at home.	The dog must have been left at home.

64 Il passivo (4): verbi con due complementi; passivo con get

Verbi con il doppio complemento

- Alcuni verbi reggono un doppio complemento, uno diretto (complemento oggetto) e l'altro indiretto (complemento di termine o di vantaggio).

They gave Sarah a bunch of roses for her birthday.

- Nella frase qui sopra, il verbo give regge un complemento oggetto (a bunch of roses) e un complemento di termine (Sarah). La frase attiva può essere trasformata in due costruzioni passive di significato pressoché equivalente:

1 A bunch of roses was given to Sarah for her birthday.

2 Sarah was given a bunch of roses for her birthday.

- La seconda trasformazione, in cui il complemento indiretto diventa il soggetto della frase passiva, è la più comune. Osserva la traduzione italiana:

Sarah was given a bunch of roses for her birthday.

→ A Sarah fu regalato un mazzo di rose per il suo compleanno.

- Il complemento indiretto viene anteposto ma il soggetto della frase passiva rimane 'un mazzo di rose'. Sia la costruzione inglese sia quella italiana pongono l'accento sulla persona che beneficia dell'azione.

- Altri verbi con il doppio complemento sono: ask, buy, lend, make, offer, pay, promise, sell, send, show, teach, tell, write.

Michael was lent a camera for his holiday. A camera was lent to Michael for his holiday.

A Michael è stata prestata una macchina fotografica per le vacanze.

We were shown the photos of the wedding. The photos of the wedding were shown to us.

Ci sono state mostrate le fotografie del matrimonio.

The children are taught French by an au pair. French is taught to the children by an au pair.

Ai bambini è insegnato il francese da una ragazza alla pari.

Un phrasal verb coniugato al passivo conserva la preposizione.

They put off the match because of rain. → The match was put off because of rain.

Why do people always laugh at me? → Why am I always laughed at?

◆ Alcuni verbi (per es. allow, ask, persuade, tell, warn, urge) nella forma attiva sono seguiti da un complemento (es. us) + l'infinito con to. Nella forma passiva di queste frasi l'infinito con to non cambia.

Forma attiva	Forma passiva
They told us to leave the building.	→ We were told to leave the building. (Ci è stato ordinato di lasciare l'edificio.)
They asked Sarah to talk to the children.	→ Sarah was asked to talk to the children. (A Sarah fu chiesto di parlare con i bambini.)
They won't allow you to take photographs.	→ You won't be allowed to take photographs. (Non vi sarà permesso fare fotografie.)

Get + participio passato

◆ Il verbo get sostituisce l'ausiliare be del verbo passivo nel linguaggio informale per descrivere un avvenimento inaspettato e negativo oppure una routine.
 He got sacked after only two days. (= He was sacked) È stato licenziato dopo soli due giorni.
 How did the vase get broken? Come si è rotto il vaso?
 The sheets get changed once a week. Le lenzuola vengono cambiate ogni settimana.

Ciao, Lucio!

Finalmente Martina e io siamo a Londra per il nostro scambio culturale (exchange project)! Ieri è stato il nostro primo giorno alla Tyndale School. Eravamo così eccitati! Ci hanno mostrato le classi, la palestra e la mensa e ci hanno detto che dovevamo portare l'uniforme scolastica.

Abbiamo scoperto che agli studenti è proibito avere tatuaggi o piercing. Riesci a crederlo? Poi Martina è stata accompagnata nell'ufficio del Sig. Hughes, il suo tutor.

Mentre l'aspettavo, mi hanno chiesto della mia scuola in Italia. Ho saputo che ci insegnerà inglese la Signora Harding. Mi hanno avvertito che è molto severa e sono un po' preoccupata.

Ti scriverò presto per darti altre notizie.

65 Have / Get something done

- Questa costruzione traduce 'farsi fare' o 'far fare'. Confronta queste due frasi:
She'll paint her flat. Imbiancherà il suo appartamento (da sola).
She'll have her flat painted. Farà imbiancare l'appartamento (da un imbianchino).

Questa struttura si forma così:

have al tempo richiesto + ogg. + part. pass.
I have	my eyes	tested.
I'm having
I'm going to have
I'll have
I've had
I had
I should have

- Nota che have non è un ausiliare in questa costruzione. Per formare le frasi negative e interrogative si deve usare do/does e did al present e past simple.
He doesn't have his boots repaired.
He repairs them himself.
 Non si fa riparare gli stivali. Li ripara da solo.
You look great! Where did you have your hair cut?
 Stai benissimo! Dove ti sei fatta tagliare i capelli?

- Get something done ha lo stesso significato e la stessa costruzione di have something done ma si usa nell'inglese informale.
The Johnsons are getting a new house built. I Johnson si stanno facendo costruire una casa nuova.

Uso

Questa struttura ha due usi:

- esprime 'farsi fare qualcosa da qualcuno', di solito un professionista o un esperto
You should have/get the hairdryer fixed. Dovresti far riparare l'asciugacapelli (da un elettricista).
- descrive un'azione che si è subito involontariamente, di solito un inconveniente.
I had/got my mobile stolen. Mi hanno rubato il cellulare.

People say that city life is too hectic. (forma attiva)
It is said that city life is too hectic. (forma passiva impersonale, registro formale)
City life is said to be too hectic. (forma passiva personale)
 Si dice che la vita di città sia frenetica.

- La costruzione impersonale è introdotta dal pronome it seguito dal verbo di opinione o attività intellettuale alla forma passiva:

Riferimento al tempo presente

Riferimento al tempo passato

- La costruzione personale si forma a partire dal soggetto della frase secondaria attiva:

Riferimento al tempo presente

Riferimento al tempo passato

- La costruzione personale prevede l'uso dell'infinito passato quando la secondaria attiva descrive un'azione conclusa.

He is thought to have caused the accident. (People think that he caused the accident.)

Uso

► L'infinito può essere usato:

- come soggetto di una frase
To play for Manchester United is my dream. Giocare per il Manchester United è il mio sogno.
- dopo aggettivi che esprimono stati d'animo come happy, pleased, lovely, proud ecc.
I'm proud to have well-behaved children. Sono fiero di avere figli bene educati.
- in frasi con it + to be + aggettivo/sostantivo
It is impossible to find a parking space. Trovare un parcheggio è impossibile.
It's nice to hear from you again. È bello avere di nuovo tue notizie.
- come oggetto dopo alcuni verbi, come want, wish, choose, decide, hope, afford, plan, pretend, deserve, remember, forget ecc.
I want to visit Alaska one day. Voglio visitare l'Alaska un giorno.

► To non si usa:

- dopo i verbi modali must, can, could, may, might, will, shall e should
You must take these tablets for three days. Devi prendere queste pastiglie per tre giorni.
- dopo would, had better e would rather
I'd rather stay in tonight. Preferirei rimanere in casa stasera.
- con let e make

- dopo i verbi di percezione feel, hear, see e watch quando indicano un'azione finita.
I heard him lock the door. L'ho sentito chiudere la porta a chiave.

L'infinito di scopo

- L'infinito con to si usa anche per esprimere scopo.
I opened the window to air the room.
Ho aperto la finestra per arieggiare la stanza.

Quick Tip La preposizione for non può mai precedere l'infinito.
I opened the window to air the room.
NON I opened the window for to air ...
NON I opened the window for air ...

• Nella forma negativa è necessario aggiungere so as o in order.

Osserva anche la posizione di not nelle frasi negative:

She pretended to be ill so as not to go to school.

Finse di essere malata per non andare a scuola.

Le preposizioni italiane 'di', 'a', 'da' e 'per' seguite dall'infinito vengono omesse in inglese.

I came to pick up the kids.

It's your turn to take the dog for a walk.

Is there anything to eat?

Sono venuto a prendere i bambini.

È il tuo turno di portare fuori il cane.

C'è qualcosa da mangiare?
